

Sergio Gomez started dancing at Mission Hills High School dance class. Performing in showcases with his high school gave him a basis from which he could expand his dance education to dancing at Palomar Community College in San Marcos. Then, he decided to focus on his ballet education by training with New West Ballet. Sergio has performed in various contemporary and modern pieces as well as a classical soloist and lead roles with New West Ballet including Raymonda, Sleeping Beauty, The Nutcracker, and Paquita. Sergio enjoys traveling to perform guest roles. He has guest-starred as the Nutcracker Prince in The Nutcracker with The Ballet Studio in Temecula, and the male leads in The Little Mermaid and Paquita for San Francisco Youth Ballet. Now, he is still continuously growing, learning, and dancing daily. He is excited to have the opportunity to dance in the opera. Dancing is his passion, and he is grateful for his instructors and sources of inspiration.
